About NLM

The National Library of Medicine (NLM), in Bethesda, Maryland, is a part of the National Institutes of Health, US Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). Since its founding in 1836, NLM has played a pivotal role in translating biomedical research into practice.

NLM is the world's largest biomedical library and the developer of electronic information services that deliver trillions of bytes of data to millions of users every day. Scientists, health professionals and the public in the US and around the globe search the Library's online information resources more than one billion times each year. NLM resources include PubMed, ClinicalTrials.gov, MedlinePlus, and TOXNET. Full websites of many of these mobile resources are available online at <http://nlm.gov/>

About NN/LM

The National Network of Libraries of Medicine (NN/LM), an outreach program of NLM, provides assistance and training nationwide. To find a local library, please call 800-338-7657 or go to <http://nnlm.gov/members/>

Funded under contract No. HHS-N-276-2011-00009-C with UCLA and awarded by the DHHS, NIH, National Library of Medicine. This resource is freely available at:
